 6. Any other act that violates good social custom

Article 11 Pet owners must provide necessary medical treatment to animals that are injured or sick.

Medical treatment and surgeries for animals shall be performed by a veterinarian based on the need for the health or management of animals. This provision, however, shall not apply to an emergency, scientific applications or other situations announced by the central competent authority.

Article 12 No one may kill animals at will except for the following purposes:

1. For economic purposes, i.e. to eat the meat, get the fur or feed other animals
2. For scientific applications
3. For the control of animal diseases or to improve the breed
4. For bringing down the excessive number of economic animals with the permission from the competent authority
5. For freeing animals from pains of injuries and illnesses
6. For preventing immediate danger to human lives, body, health, freedom, property or public safety
7. Animals kept in animal shelters or in the places designated by the municipal or county (city) competent authority that are not claimed, adopted or properly disposed of over twelve days following a notice or public announcement
8. Other reasons as stipulated in this Act or announced by the central competent authority

The central competent authority may announce a prohibition on killing animals as mentioned in Subparagraph 1 of the preceding paragraph.

No one may be allowed to conduct any of the following actions for purposes stipulated in Subparagraph 1 of Paragraph 1:

1. To kill a dog or a cat or sell its carcass
2. To sell the carcass of an animal announced by the central competent authority to be prohibited from killing

Animals that are allowed to be claimed and adopted in accordance with Subparagraph 7 of Paragraph 1 do not include animals that are prohibited from being raised or imported as referred to in Article 8. However, animals raised or adopted before the date of promulgation and registered according to Paragraph 1 of Article 36 are allowed to be claimed by the original pet owner.

Article 13 Animals that are put to death according to Paragraph 1 of the preceding article shall be done in a humane way with the least pains. Moreover, the following regulations shall be followed:

1. Unless otherwise announced by the competent authority, animals are not allowed to be slaughtered at public places or in places accessible by the public.
2. Except for emergency, only a veterinarian may put a pet to death in order to free the pet from pains caused by injuries or illnesses.
3. Slaughter of animals kept in animal shelters or places designated by the municipal or county (city) competent authority shall be performed by or under the supervision of a veterinarian.
4. Slaughter of excessive animals shall be done in the manner approved by the competent authority.

The central competent authority may stipulate regulations for the slaughter of animals in a humanitarian way per the actual necessity.

The slaughterhouse workers for economic animals shall attend workshops on humane slaughter operations held by the competent authority or its entrusted third party on a yearly basis.

Article 14 The municipal or county (city) competent authority shall set up animal shelters, authorize civil institutions or organizations to set up animal shelters, or designate certain places to accommodate and handle the following animals in the municipality or county (city) based on the population and the number of stray dogs and cats in such municipality or county (city):

1. Stray animals caught by the municipal or county (city) government, other institutions or civilians
2. Animals that are no longer to be raised by their owners
3. Animals that are kept or confiscated by the competent authority in accordance with this Act
4. Animals that are in jeopardy

The central competent authority shall appropriate budget to help the municipal or county (city) competent authority set up animal shelters for the protection of animals such as the sterilization, claim and recognition of them, whose organization principles for the establishment shall be stipulated by the central competent authority.

The municipal or county (city) competent authority may stipulate incentive measures to guide and assist civil institutions and organizations in establishing animal shelters.

Fees may be charged for services provided by animal shelters or places designated by the municipal or county (city) competent authority. The fees will be stipulated by the municipal or county (city) competent authority.

Article 14-1 Without the approval of the competent authority, the following methods shall not be used to capture animals:

1. Explosives
2. Toxic substance
3. Electricity
4. Corrosive substance
5. Firearms other than the tranquilizer gun
6. Clamps

Chapter 3 Scientific Application of Animals

Article 15 Live animals shall be avoided in scientific applications, if possible. When the use of live animals is necessary, it shall be limited to the minimal number and the application shall be done in a way that inflicts the least pain or harm to the animals.

The central competent authority may stipulate regulations governing the source, scope of application and management of laboratory animals by the species.

Article 16 Institutions that conduct scientific applications of animals shall establish a care and use committee or panel for laboratory animals to supervise scientific applications of laboratory animals in such institutions.

The central competent authority shall select and hire scholars, experts and representatives from relevant institutions and registered civil animal protection organizations to supervise and manage scientific applications of animals on a regular basis, among whom there shall be at least one veterinarian and one representative from civil animal protection organizations.

Regulations governing the composition, duty and management of such care and use committee or panel for laboratory animals shall be stipulated by the central competent authority.

Article 17 The condition of laboratory animals shall be examined immediately after the scientific application. In the event that the quality of life of such animals is affected by the loss of their partial body organs or suffers continual pain, they shall be put to death immediately with minimal pain.

Unless otherwise required for further scientific applications, laboratory animals shall be given sufficient time after the scientific application for the full recovery of their physiology function before they are used again in other scientific applications.

Article 18 Schools below the level of senior high school shall not offer classes outside the curriculum established by the competent authority of education which may cause injuries or death to animals.

Chapter 4 Management of Pets

Article 19 The central competent authority may designate pets for which registration is required.

The pet owner shall register the birth, acquisition, transfer, loss and death of the pets mentioned in the preceding paragraph with the municipal or county (city) competent authority or its entrusted civil institution or organization. The municipal or county (city) competent authority shall issue an ID to the registered pet and may implement a chip to such pet.

The registration procedure and timeframe, incentive for sterilization, other related regulations and the identification management measures mentioned in the preceding paragraph shall be established by the central competent authority.

Article 20 When entering public places or places accessible to the public, pets shall be accompanied by people over seven years old.

When entering public places or places accessible to the public, aggressive pets shall be accompanied by adults and appropriate preventive measures shall be taken.

Aggressive pets as well as preventive measures to be taken as mentioned in the preceding paragraph shall be announced by the central competent authority.

Article 20-1 The municipal and county (city) competent authority shall provide appropriate public places for the use of pet owners and their pets.

Article 21 In the event that a pet for which registration is required enters a public place or places accessible to the public without companion, anyone may assist in protecting such pet and handing it over to an animal shelter or a place designated by the municipal or county (city) competent authority.

In the event that the pet mentioned in the preceding paragraph carries an ID, its pet owner shall be notified as soon as possible to claim it. Pets that are not claimed within twelve days of notice or without an ID shall be handled in accordance with Articles 12 and 13.

If the pet mentioned in Paragraph 1 carries contagious disease or is in other emergent state, it may be put to death in a humane way.

For pets sent by pet owners to animal shelters or places designated by the municipal or county (city) competent authority, the regulations in the preceding two paragraphs shall apply.

Chapter 4-1 Management of the Pet Breeding, Trading or Fostering Industry

Article 22 Any person who operates the pet breeding, trading or fostering industry of specific pets for profits shall apply for a license to the municipal or county (city) competent authority and obtain the business license pursuant to applicable laws before such operation.
